To Whom It May Concern

Letter of Recommendation for Godsway Ativor

I am pleased to recommend Godsway Ativor, who completed his two-month internship at Koryis as our full-stack developer. During this period, Godsway was entrusted with significant, production-level responsibilities that were central to the development of our platform.

He independently designed, built, and implemented core systems, including AI-integrated learning features, an admin panel, and dashboards for students, parents, and teachers, as well as our landing page. These were critical components of the product, and Godsway was fully accountable for their successful delivery from development through deployment.

Godsway consistently demonstrated strong discipline, responsibility, and technical capability. Despite working remotely, he was always punctual, reliable, and highly responsive. He frequently exceeded expectations by taking initiative beyond his assigned scope of work and maintaining a strong sense of ownership over his tasks.

His professionalism, commitment, and ability to work independently made him a valuable contributor to Koryis. We are confident in his abilities and character, and we highly recommend Godsway Ativor for any future academic or professional endeavour.

Sincerely,
Francis Amegbor (CTO at Koryis)
